Tutelare Announces Successful Product Demonstrations

FORT COLLINS, CO – The Tutelare Corporation ("Tutelare" or the "Company") is pleased to report that it has successfully completed prototype tests for its wearable detection product with detection of a gun up to 8 meters (26 feet) and a knife up to 6 meters (20 feet). Our goal is to be able to detect concealed weapons as far away as 50 meters (164 feet) or more.

The Tutelare Corporation is developing a wide range of wearable/mobile and fixed weapons detections (WFWD) technologies to improve detection of potential threats outside, at access/entry control points and inside potential threat target locations.
